

Abstract of the Disclosure

Roof module (1) which is designed for covering an opening (102) made in a roof (101) of a motor vehicle (100), the opening (102) extending in the transverse direction between two lateral roof elements (103, 104) and in the lengthwise direction between a front roof element (107) and a rear roof element (108), characterized in that the roof module (1) forms an installation unit which has:

- a glass pane (2)
- a darkening device (20), and
- a support brace (13) which has a motor gear (15) for driving the darkening device (20, 30).